Numeration Table.

Simple addition

Simple addition teacheth to collect several onembers of the same denomination into one Total.

Place the numbers under each other, so that units may fland under Units, tens important de . chrow a line under them, add up the figures in the row of units and find how many ting are contained in their sum, set down the remainder and carry as many ones to the next row as there are tens with which I proceed as before de.

Simple Substraction . Simple substraction teacheth to take a less number from a greater of the same denomination and thereby shows the Slace the number inder the greatest, so that Units may flund inder thints, tens inder tens he and draw a line inder them, begin at the right hand, and take each figure from in the lower line from the figure above it, and fit down the remainder. If the lower figure is greater them that above it, add ton to the upper number, from which thember so increased take the lower and fot down the remainder, carrying one to the next lower with which proceed as before, and so on hit the whole is finished.

Simple Multiplication.

Simple muttiplication is a compendious method of addition and tracketh to find the amount of any given Homebar of one denome nation by repeating it any proposed Homebar of times.

The Humber to be muttiplied is called the Mostliphicand the Humber you muttiply by is called the muttiplier, The Humber formed from the Operation is called the product.

Rule

Place the multiplier worker the multiplicand. To that thirts may stome under them, begin at the right hand, and multiply the whole multiplicand, leavenly by each figure in the multiplier, setting down the first figure of every line, directly under the figure you are multiplying by, and earny for the tens as in addition. Add all the lines together and their sum is the product.

Imple Dursion Vimple dumon teachath to find how often one Monteer is contained in another of the same denomination and thereby performs the work of many Inoftractions. The Mumber to be divided is called the Dividend. The number the divided setted you divide by is called the divisor. The Momber of times the dividend contains the divisor is called the quotient. -On the night & left of the dividend draw a curved line and write the divisor on the left hand, and the quotient of it rises on the right - find how many times the divisor may be had in as many figures as are Just necessary and write the Mumber in the quotient. Mustiply the divisor by the quet ent figure, and fot the product under that part of the dividend used Substrate the last found product, from that part of the dividend dividend under which it flands, and to the night hand of the Remainder bring down the next figure of the dividend, which number divide as before and so on till the whole is finished.
